Sydney, Australia: SAI Global Limited (ASX: SAI) has served Standards Australia Limited with a Statement of Claim ("the Claim") in relation to alleged breaches of the Publishing Licence Agreement ("the PLA") which has been in place since 2003.

Standards Australia is the body responsible for developing the standards with which Australian businesses must comply in order to provide public assurance as to the safety and quality of their products and services. Under the PLA, SAI publishes and distributes these standards.

SAI has operations throughout the world and seeks to provide its customers with current and relevant standards adapted to its clients' way of working and use of technology. The importance of standards that account for the inevitable changes in consumer and producer demands brought about by technology is increasingly apparent as global trade accelerates.

The Claim relates to Standards Australia's production, review and revision of material licensed to SAI Global under the PLA.

Standards Australia disputes liability and intends to defend the Claim.

The Claim will be resolved by arbitration.
