Renal Physicians Association and CPT code communication

AtCor Medical Holdings Limited (ASX:ACG), the developer and marketer of the SphygmoCor[®] system which measures central aortic blood pressures and arterial stiffness non-invasively, today advise that the Renal Physicians Association (RPA) has released a brief online video “Public Policy in a Minute” in which they discuss the new CPT code 93050, which covers the SphygmoCor test.

In particular, Mr Robert Blaser, Director of Public Policy for RPA, informs viewers that the outcome (a national average payment of US$17.91 per test) is as recommended by RPA based on the physician time and practice expenses.

The Renal Physicians Association is a non-profit national nephrology specialty medical association. It was established in 1973 and now has more than 3,500 members.

The video may be accessed through the RPA website at:

About AtCor Medical

AtCor Medical develops and markets products for the early detection of cardiovascular risk and management of cardiovascular disease. Its technology allows researchers and clinicians to measure central aortic blood pressure non-invasively. The company’s SphygmoCor[®] system visibly identifies the effects of reflected blood pressure in the central aortic pressure wave, effects which cannot be detected with standard blood pressure monitoring. More than 3,800 SphygmoCor[®] systems are currently in use worldwide at major medical institutions, research institutions and in various clinical trials with leading pharmaceutical companies. The company’s technology has been featured in over 900 peer-reviewed studies published in leading medical journals and thousands of citations. AtCor has operations in Australia, the United States, and Europe. For further information, please visit our web site at www.atcormedical.com.
