Service Stream signs nation building contract with Fujitsu Australia Limited

Today Service Stream signed a contract with Fujitsu Australia to provide network provisioning and fibre deployment services as part of Fujitsu's partnership with NBN Co to rollout fibre infrastructure to new developments.

The initial contract period is for 12 months with an option to extend for a second year. Service Stream estimates the contract value to be $35m pa; however installation volumes are not guaranteed and may vary substantially over the life of the contract.

Service Stream looks forward to working with Fujitsu and NBN Co on this nation building project, and is pleased to again demonstrate the capacity of the company to provide services to the industry in this very competitive but exciting sector.
