

ASX Release

Market Update

The Company is aware of a newsletter outlining information on TALi Detect. The Company has not received the communication and has requested that the institution from which it purports to be sent from confirm the veracity of the communication.

The Company can confirm that it is not a party to the Project outlined in the communication and further confirms that it is a party to a CRC-P Project (as previously announced by the Company) which is not yet complete and the data from that Project has not been fully reviewed or collated by the Company.

The Company will update the market further as appropriate and looks forward to release of information from the CRC-P and updating the market on the progress of schools using its ground-breaking TALi technology.
